About Me

I'm a versatile software developer and entrepreneur with a passion for creating impactful online platforms. I have successfully launched multiple websites, ran a small business, and built CRM-style solutions to streamline user experiences. My expertise spans frontend modern web frameworks and languages like React.js and Typescript, backend integrations with REST APIs and Python, user authentication systems, database management and SQL, and design with tools such as Figma and the Adobe Suite.

Education: University of Hawai'i at Manoa, Bachelor of Science in Chemistry (2021)
